

Farmer common sense in business

For inspiring and creative professionals with a passion for cooperatives
focused on impact

We are Agriterra, a Dutch agri-agency that provides business development services to ambitious cooperatives and farmer organisations in developing and emerging economies. We assist them with advice and training through locally based business advisors and by deploying practitioners from the Dutch and international farmer organisations and (cooperative) companies; the so-called Agripool experts. We apply a three-track approach: we make cooperatives bankable and create real farmer-led companies, we support organisations to improve extension services to their members and we enhance farmer-government dialogues. Our advisory practice covers the full range of services on Management & Organisation, Financial Management, Governance, Business Development and Lobby & Advocacy.

Agriterra has local offices in 17 countries. We work with self-steering teams, so our employees are challenged to use every bit of determination, creativity and strategy to achieve our compelling goals. Being a self-steering organisation makes Agriterra an inspiring and challenging environment for professional growth and development.

Agriterra has an annual turnover of approximately 15 million euros, is ISO certified and has over 150 employees, both in the Netherlands and abroad. For more information, visit our website www.agriterra.org

We are recruiting a

Functional Analyst (fulltime, 36h)

Location: Arnhem – The Netherlands

As Functional Analyst you identify user needs and make proposals for improvement of the Agriterra applications. In close cooperation with your colleagues you create user stories as requested by the users of the applications(s). The user stories i.e. requirements/features must be written with clear acceptance criteria in order to be processed by the development team. In the end you are responsible for testing new features based those criteria. You make sure that there is an excellent quality control of the test process and test cases and you support and train the employees/users when they start working with the new features.

Since you will collaborate with different, international stakeholders, you have excellent communications skills and are able to give presentations of new releases to your colleagues and other stakeholders.

You will work together with your colleagues in our IT team using the Agile method and under the responsibility of the manager operations.

What do you offer?

- BSc in Business Informatics
- A minimum of two years experience within a comparable position;
- Stakeholder oriented and strong communication skills;
- Knowledge of IT systems (ERP), software development and business processes;
- Knowledge of working with Agile method;
- Excellent level of proficiency in English. Dutch would be an asset.

What do we have to offer

- Agriterra offers a contract for a fulltime position (36 hours) for one year, with the possibility of extension;
- The salary offered will depend on your experience and ranges between EUR 3.043 and 4.564;
- The work atmosphere is collegial and ambitious, and the focus is on achieving impact;
- Being a self-steering organisation makes Agriterra an inspiring and challenging environment for professional growth and development;
- Possibility to flexibly organise your hours in consultation.

Are you interested?

Are you interested in this position and do you fit the profile? Apply with a cover letter and curriculum vitae, by sending an e-mail to vacancy@agriterra.org, to the attention of Mr Hahné, manager operations, with reference code AG2419.

If you require further information, you can also contact him by sending an e-mail.