

A new decade for Cooperative Agri-Business Development

We are Agriterra, a Dutch agri-agency that provides business development services to ambitious cooperatives and farmer organisations in developing and emerging economies. We assist them with advice and training by locally based business advisors and by deploying practitioners from the Dutch and international farmer organisations and (cooperative) companies; the so-called AgriPool experts. We apply a three-track approach: we make cooperatives bankable and create real farmer-led companies, we improve extension services to farmer members and we enhance farmer-government dialogues. Our advisory practice covers the full range of services on Management & Organisation, Financial Management, Governance, Business Development and Lobby & Advocacy.

Agriterra works from local offices in a large number of countries. We work with self-organising teams, so our employees are challenged to use every bit of determination, creativity and strategy to achieve our compelling goals. Being a self-organising organisation makes Agriterra an inspiring and challenging environment for professional growth and development.

At present, Agriterra is in the process of decentralising and delegating tasks to the autonomous country offices, among which tasks related to project administration and client information analysis.

Agriterra has an annual turnover of approximately 20 million euros, is ISO certified and has over 170 employees, both in the Netherlands and abroad. For more information, visit our website www.agriterra.org.
